

July 20, 2010 09:43 AM Eastern Daylight Time

Vin Gupta, Managing Partner of Everest Capital Participates in Aspen Ideas Festival in July 2010

July 4-11, 2010

ASPEN, Colo.--(BUSINESS WIRE)--The Aspen Ideas Festival celebrated its sixth year. This year's focus was to discuss new means of media and communications technologies. Festival presenters included Melody Barnes, Geoffrey Canada, E.J. Dionne Jr., Roland Fryer Jr., Bill Gates, Ruth Bader Ginsburg, Eric Holder, Walter Isaacson, Nicholas Kristol, Jeffrey Rosen, Bob Schieffer, Sheryl WuDunn and a host of others. Vinod "Vin" Gupta, Managing Partner of Everest Capital – a venture capital firm specializing in technology and information services, and Founder of Infogroup participated in various discussions. He has been a contributor to the Aspen Ideas Festival for many years. According to Mr. Gupta, "This is the best event in the world where young technology geniuses, can get together with Supreme Court Justices, Senior Bankers, and Politicians to exchange ideas and make this world a better place." The Aspen Ideas Festival is a conversation-packed exploration of some of the most important ideas and pressing issues we face. It also proves to be a great venue for networking with other individuals who share a common enthusiasm. Some of the past attendees were President Bill Clinton, Sergey Brin and Larry Page of Google, General Colin Powell and many other world leaders. For more information – please visit www.everestcpi.com

"This is the best event in the world where young technology geniuses, can get together with Supreme Court Justices, Senior Bankers, and Politicians to exchange ideas and make this world a better place."

Contacts

World Education Foundation
Michael Scott, 402-689-4114

Permalink: <http://www.businesswire.com/news/home/20100720006417/en/Vin-Gupta-Managing-Partner-Everest-Capital-Participates>

